Press Club V. P. Will Speak at South Bay Meet

Humphrey Owens, of the Los Angeles Times and vice president of the Los Angeles Press Club, has been invited to be the guest speaker at the next meeting of South Bay Press Club.

The session, scheduled at 8 p.m., Sept. 5, at Press Club headquarters in the Hollywood Riviera Club, will be held to appoint committees to draw up constitution and by-laws and to nominate a permanent slate of officers.

Nearly 30 members have signed with the new organization and other newspaper personnel, either working or living in the South Bay area are being notified of the group's existence and meeting schedule.

Officers and members of the Los Angeles group are aiding with organizational and promotional ideas and advice and some members of the downtown group have also joined the local club.

Membership in the South Bay group is limited to newspaper, advertising and public relations personnel and freelance writers and application for admittance may be made at any of the club's functions.

Acting officers of the Press Club have emphasized that its functions will be entirely of a service and social nature and will have no connection with any political or pressure group.

Petroleum Aeronautical Course Set

A series of evening courses for petroleum and aeronautical engineers are announced by the University of Southern California beginning with the fall term on Sept. 23.

Subsurface methods studying the correlation of data from cores form the subject of a Wednesday class with electric logging scheduled for Thursdays.

Fluid mechanics and properties of oil and other fluids are also to be given during the 13-week term.

Most classes meet on campus from 7 to 10 p.m.

Five subjects in the field of aeronautics include airplane design, dynamics, aerelasticity and flutter, theory of plates and shells and aerodynamics.

Industrial design, plant management, and accounting are also class subjects.
